FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Waste Haulers Announces Free Recycling Services to South Kingstown Residential Customers

The fastest growing waste hauler in New England focuses on town's recycling goals

(Johnston, RI) Waste Haulers, LLC recently announced its launch of free recycling services to their residential customers in South Kingstown, RI.

According to Pat Sperduto, owner of Waste Haulers, the service offering biweekly collection at no charge to Waste Haulers customers will promote the town's efforts to exceed the state's recycling goals. "We fully expect the community to embrace our recycling program; and expect it to fuel customer growth". The service starts March 1, 2008. New customers can also sign up for this service by calling 800-804-3520.

With the purchase of three collection vehicles, one being a fully-automated side loader, Waste Haulers brings today's collection technology to their customers. Residential recyclables will be collected curbside biweekly and delivered to Rhode Island Resource Recovery to capture the residents' recycling percentages. This service will be provided free of charge.

Waste Haulers is the largest privately-owned waste collection company based in Johnston, RI and services almost three thousand residential customers in Rhode Island; additionally the company services customers in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Connecticut for recycling, commercial, industrial, and residential services.
